Passage 1

Stopping Yelling At Your Kids

Parenting is hard. If you're a parent, I'm sure that I don't need to tell you that our job is a tough one. When you're managing children, it can be difficult to remember that they are still learning. If you find you are yelling at your kids more often than you want to, here are some ways that can help you reduce the yelling. I've been working on this for the past few months and I have to say, it's been amazing for both the kids and me.

If you are having an argument with your child, you need to make sure you both take the time to really listen. It gives both of you time to think and really listen to each other, which is important. Kids are more likely to listen to you if you listen to them!

One of your biggest struggles is to remind yourself of appropriate expectations. You can't expect that your youngest acts as responsibly as your oldest. You should lower what you expect — taking into consideration things like their age — it can make a big difference.

You should do your best to take a moment before yelling and take in a deep breath. It makes a world of difference for you. Instead of yelling, you'd better whisper. It can also help diffuse any situation by making things quieter, not louder. Besides, the more time you spend with your kids, the better you'll get at communicating with them. You're both more likely to understand each other.

If your children aren't listening or it seems they only don't listen to you, you don't take it personally. You should remind yourself that your kids are still learning and they're not going to be perfect.

21. What is the passage most likely to be?

A. An announcement.

B. A letter.

C. A speech.

22. _____ is very important when there is an argument between the kid and the parent.

- A. Yelling at each other
- B. Listening to each other
- C. Whispering to each other

23. Parents should hold _____ for their kids.

- A. lower expectations
- B. identical expectations
- C. appropriate expectations

24. Which is most likely TRUE about kids of different ages?

- A. Every kid is a perfect child.
- B. Elder kids may act better.
- C. Younger kids learn quicker.

25. What is the most likely topic of the passage?

- A. The Art of Parenting
- B. The Learning Kids
- C. The Yelling Parents

26—30 题: 根据短文内容判断给出的语句是否正确, 正确的写“T”, 错误的写“F”, 并将答案写在答题纸上。

Passage 2

A Speech — Better Lives for All

In today's society, working people can seldom find time to relax in their busy schedules. They often work overtime because of too much work waiting in queue, which ends up causing a lot of physical and mental problems. Fortunately, more and more people are now aware that relaxation and stress-relief are necessary for life. One's health should never be sacrificed for a need to work hard.

Indeed, finding time to relax makes people work more efficiently.

Many people plan trips to spend their free time traveling with their loved ones. This may have been a luxury in the past, but it has become more common in recent years. Traveling at home and abroad has now become convenient and affordable.

Going jogging and going to the gym after work have also become more popular, as they are rather convenient ways to exercise and stay fit. Exercising helps relax your body and has been shown to relieve mental stress as well. This demand for recreation and leisure service has also stimulated the economy, as new businesses are created to meet these needs.

In sum, working hard is important, but having a good quality of life can actually facilitate your success at work. Knowing when and how to relax should be a part of well-balanced lifestyles. Take a walk outdoors, visit the gym, or go jogging. You will find that your time was not wasted, even if it was not spent working in your office.

26. In today's society, working people can often find time to relax themselves in their busy schedules.

27. Few people are now aware that relaxation and stress-relief are necessary for life.

28. Traveling has become more common in recent years.

29. Exercising can only help relax your body.

30. People should keep a balance between work and relaxation.
